Overview

Journal LX enables instructors to create online journals for the course as well as group and individual student journals. It can be used for a variety of purposes within an online course. Course and Group Journals can be configured by the instructor and included in the course Gradebook.

What is Journal LX?

Journal LX is a Web Log Tool (blog) that allows students and/or instructors to create a web based diary or journal in which they can add content at regular intervals. Users can add links to other websites, upload documents and images as well as comment on the journal entries of others.

What can Journal LX be used for?

There are many classroom uses of Journal LX. Journals can be used to provide a forum for students to reflect on course topics or projects. Journals can also be used as online filing cabinets where assignments and course reference material are stored. This tool can also be used to create collaborative writing spaces where students can give feedback to one another. Finally, journals can also be used to create student research logs.

Types of Journals
Two types of Journals can be created and made available within your course.
  o  A “Course/Organization Journal”
  o  Multiple “Group Journals”

Course/Organization Journal

The Course/Organization Journal is a collaborative blog tool that is associated with a course or organization and is accessed through the Course Tools list in Blackboard.
Course Journals can be used by the instructor for their own purposes:
  o  Post class assignments
  o  Comment on lectures
  o  Provide background reading for lessons

Each course/organization has a journal that all students have access to. With appropriate permissions users will be able to view, comment on and create journal entries in the course journal. Course Journals can also be used as a forum for students to reflect on issues relating to the course.

Group Journal

Group Journal documents appear in the course documents (or other content area) section of your course. Group Journals created and used as part of regular course work. Group Journals can be assigned to a group of users or as individual work areas or assignments.

Group One - Web Site Analysis Journal

  This journal is for members of group one to discuss their Web Site Analysis project.

Group Two - Web Site Analysis Journal
  View
  This journal is for members of group two to discuss their web site analysis project.

Group Three - Web Site Analysis Journal
  View
  This journal is for members of group three to discuss their web site analysis project.
Creating Journals

Journals are created within the Control Panel of the course. The Course Journal is created automatically but needs to be configured for use. Group Journals need to be created individually and then configured for use.

Configuring Course Journal

A Course Journal is set up through the course control panel. Locate the 'Configure Journal' link in the “Course Tools” section of the Control Panel. By default, the Course Journal has been set up so that only the instructor will be able to create entries.

The ‘Configure Journal’ tool allows an instructor to control four kinds of access to the Course Team Site.

- Entry Creation – Determines whether or not users are allowed to add entries to the Course Journal.
- Member Comments – Determines whether or not students can add comments entries in the Course Journal.
- Edit Dates – Determines the period of time in which students can add entries to the Journal if this feature has been enabled.
- View Dates – Determines the period of time in which students can view the Course Journal.

To configure the Course Journal follow the steps below:

Step 1: Access the course Control Panel

Step 2: Click on the “Configure Journal” link in the “Course Tools” section of the Control Panel

Step 3: Set the ‘Create Entries’ option to determine if course members can add journal entries
Creating Journals

Do you want to allow students to create journal entries?
☐ Yes  ☐ No

Note: By default entry creation is disallowed.

Step 4: Set the ‘Member Comment’ option to determine if course members can comment on journal entries

Do you want to allow students to comment on Journal entries?
☐ Yes  ☐ No

Step 5: Select the Edit Dates for the course journal. Specify a start and/or stop date for the period of time when students can create journal entries

Choose the dates and times for which group members will be allowed to edit the site.

☐ Allow Edits After
Jan 6 2005
9 00 AM

☐ Allow Edits Until
Jan 6 2005
9 00 AM

Note: By default there are no date restrictions placed on entry creation if it is enabled.

Step 6: Select the View Dates for the course journal. Set the start and/or stop dates for student access to the Course Journal

Choose the dates and times for which non-group members will be allowed to view the site.

☐ Display After
Jan 6 2005

☐ Display Until
Jan 6 2005
9 00 PM

Note: By default there are no date restrictions placed on viewing.
Creating Group Journals

A Group Journal is created by adding a special kind of Content Type with a course Content Area such as 'Assignments' or 'Course Documents'. Locate the content area where the Journal should be created.

To create a group Journal follow the steps below:

Step 1: Access the Course Control Panel

Step 2: Choose the Content Area (i.e. Course Documents, Assignments, etc.) where you wish to create the Group Journal

Step 3: Select the 'Journal' item from the drop down list in the right corner of the Action Bar

Step 4: Click the button to create the Group Journal

Configuring Group Journals

Once you have accessed the 'Create Group Journal' page you will need to complete the information required to configure it for use.

Step 1: Enter a name for your Journal and briefly describe the purpose of this Group Journal
Step 2: You will need to select Group Members for this Journal. Group Members can be added as groups already established within the course or as individual course members.

a. Choose a Group
   a. You can assign the Group Site to one or more existing groups by selecting them one at a time in the “Course Groups” list.
   b. Once you have selected the group click the right arrow button to add the group to the “Selected Groups” list.

Choose a Course Group

Note: This option will only appear if groups have already been defined within the course.

b. Choose Individual Users
   a. You can assign the Group Site to one or more individual course users by selecting them from the “Course Members” list.
   b. Once you have selected the group click the right arrow button to add the user to the “Selected Users” list.
Step 3: Instructors can control four different forms of access to the Journal: Visibility, Comments, Edit Dates; and View Dates

a. Visibility – this option allows an instructor to set whether or not this Journal is visible to selected users.

Do you want to make the content visible?

- [ ] Yes
- [ ] No

b. Comments – this option allows an instructor to set whether or not students can comment on journal entries.

Do you want to allow students to comment on Journal entries?

- [ ] Yes
- [ ] No

c. Edit Dates – this option allows the instructor to specify the dates or date range in which the assigned group members are allowed to add journal entries.

Choose the dates and times for which group members will be allowed to edit the site.

- [ ] Allow Edits After
  - January 6, 2005 9:00 AM

- [ ] Allow Edits Until
  - January 6, 2005 9:00 AM

d. View Dates – this option allows the instructor to specify the dates which the Journal is visible to non-group members.
Choose the dates and times for which non-group members will be allowed to view the site.

Note: Journals can be made individual by selecting a single user as the “Group Member” and setting the “View Dates” for a date/time outside of the course duration.

Step 4: A Gradebook item can be created to correspond with this Journal. Enter the required information to add this item to your course Gradebook.

- a. Check the checkbox associated with the ‘Create a Grade Book entry for this Journal’ statement.
- b. Enter an item name.
- c. Select the Gradebook category.
- d. Add an optional description.
- e. Enter the points possible.
- f. Choose the display settings.
- g. Set the Gradebook item visibility.

Step 5: Choose a “Page Encoding” setting and an “Alternate Language” for the site
Note: This is an optional step which allows the instructor to choose a page encoding and primary language for the site. It will allow you to create pages in a language that uses non-Roman characters.

Step 6: Click the [Save] button to finish creating the group Journal
Accessing Journals

There are a number of access points to Journals from within the Blackboard System.

Using Journals

When using Journals there are a variety of things you need to be aware of.

- Viewing Journals
- Adding Entries
- Commenting on Entries

This section details all of the functionality available when using Journal LX.

Viewing Journals

Once you have opened a Journal the individual entries are displayed with the most current at the top of the page. When viewing a journal you have the ability to view special information about each entry:

- Title/Date of the Journal entry
- Author
- Time of last edit

From this page you can easily navigate to other entries within the Journal.
Adding Journal Entries

To add an entry to a journal follow the steps below:

Step 1: Access the Course/Organization or Group Journal you wish to add an entry to
Step 2: Click on the link in the statement “Please click here to add a new journal entry”

Please click here to add a new journal entry.

Once you have clicked on this link you will be brought to an edit page. There are three main controls involved in editing a Journal entry:
- Edit
- View History
- Delete

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Control</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Edit</td>
<td>Launches the editor for modifying a journal entry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>View History</td>
<td>Lets users view the revision history for a journal entry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Delete</td>
<td>Marks the journal entry as deleted.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: The edit controls are only available to the group assigned to maintain the Journal.

Editing Journal Entries

When editing a Journal there are three different types of controls available to you:
- Editor controls
- The editor pane
- The save controls.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Element</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Editor Controls</td>
<td>Contains formatting and other controls for the editor</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Editor Pane</td>
<td>Area where edits are made</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Save Controls</td>
<td>Contains the controls for saving changes or exiting without saving</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Editor Controls

The Journal editor has the same set of basic formatting controls as any standard browser (WYSIWYG – What You See Is What You Get) editor. In addition, the Journal editor has two additional controls that allow users to Link Files/Pages and Add Images.
1. Link Functions

This allows users to insert a link to another an external website, or an uploaded file into the page being edited. Clicking the Add Link button in the Action Bar will bring up the “Add Link Wizard” which will step you through adding links of various types.

To create a link within your Journal entry follow the steps below:

Step 1: Highlight the text of the document you wish to make a link and click on the Add Link button
Hi Everyone,

It looks like a few people have introduced themselves and I hope the rest of you will soon. Welcome to Communications 101. We are going to get started right away and since this is an online course we should outline the expectations that everyone has. We will meet in our course web site at least once a week. Everyone will be expected to participate in the journals, discussion boards, quizzes, projects, etc. I will post weekly readings and homework in addition to your regular assignments.

A resource section will be added to the course shortly which will contain links to websites and newspapers articles that are relevant to the week you will be doing. An example of one such resource is a site with some very interesting information on business culture and etiquette. There are business guides listed for 42 different countries. Be sure to check it out!

Jason

Step 2: Select the type of link you wish to add

a. Link to an external page – Link to an external website
b. Link to a local file or image – Upload and link to a file or image

---

Welcome to the Add Link Wizard

Please choose the type of link to add:

- Link to an external web site
- Link to a local file or image

---

Step 3: Enter the detail (website URL, choose file, etc.) for the link and click OK
2. Add Image Function

This allows you to insert an image directly into the page. Within the Journal editor you can insert two kinds of images.

- An external image – located on an external web page and linked to within your Journal entry
- A local image – stored on your personal computer and uploaded to the Journal entry

To insert an external image follow the steps below:

Step 1: Click on the button in the Action Bar
Step 2: Select the ‘add external image’ option
Step 3: Enter the URL of the image you wish to embed in your Journal entry and click Finish.

Insert External Image

Please specify the address of the external image:

http://www.mindtools.com/media/memory/index.php

Please provide a brief description of the image for users of non-visual browsers (alt text):

Thumbnails of Mind Tools eBook

To insert a local image follow the steps below:

Step 1: Click on the Add Image button

Step 2: Select the ‘add local image’ option

Welcome to the Insert Image Wizard

Please choose the type of image to insert in your page:

- Insert an external image (select this option if the image is located on a page in another website and you know the URL)
- Insert a local image (select this option if the image is located on your computer)

Step 3: Browse to locate the image you wish to upload. Once you have selected the image click Next and Finish to upload it.

Editor Pane

The Editor Pane is the area that you can type into. You can cut and paste text and images from an HTML page or a Word document and then edit the inserted text. The Editor Pane works like any standard editor.
Documents created in Journal LX are converted into HTML when saved. You can view the HTML code produced by the editor by using the “Toggle Mode” control. This control is located at the bottom right of the editor.

Note: This feature can be used to provide finer control of the page formatting than is possible by using the Editor Controls alone. This feature requires prior knowledge of HTML.

Save Controls

Save edits made to your Journal by clicking the [Save] button located at the bottom right of the screen. To stop editing without saving changes click on the [Cancel] button.

Commenting on Journal Entries

The instructor can configure the Course/Organization or Group Journal so that students can comment on individual entries. If comments have been enabled any course member or instructor can comment on a journal entry.

Adding a Comment

To comment on a journal entry follow the steps below:

Step 1: Access the Course/Organization or Group Journal
Step 2: View the journal entries
Step 3: Click on the “Add Comment” link at the bottom right of the entry

Step 4: Enter your comment in the small editor window.

Step 5: Click the button to add your comment to this Journal Entry

Viewing Comments

To view comments associated with a Journal Entry follow the steps below:

Step 1: Access the Course/Organization or Group Journal
Step 2: View the journal entries
Step 3: Click on the “# Comment” link at the bottom right of the entry
Hello to Everyone!
Tuesday, January 4, 2005

I've just joined the on-line group thanks to very kind and helpful professor Grey. I really appreciate his effort.

Now, something about me. I came from Slovakia (former Czechoslovakia), but have been living here for over 7 years. I really like the country, however, I miss Europe dearly and hope to go back at some point. I'm in the last semester of General Business program. The College has taught me a lot of great things and I'm looking forward to applying this knowledge in the future. Currently, I am employed by a travel company, where I get to sell great vacation packages and airlines. So, if anyone needs some travel assistance and advice, you know where to find me.

I'm attaching the picture of my hometown in Slovakia. Now I'm realizing how beautiful it is.
