General Ad:

The Management Department of the Zicklin School of Business, Baruch College, City University of New York (CUNY) seeks applicants for part-time Adjunct Professor, non-tenure track positions, for spring and summer and fall terms. Adjunct faculty typically are assigned to teach one or more undergraduate courses in management, human resource management, operations management, entrepreneurship or strategy. Relevant knowledge includes management communication technologies, business ethics, workplace diversity issues, and international/cross-cultural communication. Qualified candidates will have a master’s degree or Ph.D. in a related field, 5+ years’ experience in business with an understanding of today's global business environment, and excellent oral and written communications skills. Previous college teaching experience is a plus. For more information, please send a resume with a cover letter explaining your interest and availability to Prof. Ray LaManna at Raymond.LaManna@Baruch.Cuny.edu.

Baruch College is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background.

Operations Management Ad:

We are seeking part-time faculty members to teach Operations Management courses at the Zicklin School of Business, Baruch College, City University of New York (CUNY), located in Gramercy Park. This includes the "core" Operations class in the Bachelors of Business Administration program, as well as advanced Operations Management courses. The ideal candidate will bring teaching experience, relevant work experience, industry contacts, and academic credentials at the masters level (or higher) in Operations Management, Supply Chain Management, Operations Research, Industrial Engineering, or related areas. For more information, please send a resume with a cover letter explaining your interest and availability in Spring or Summer 2018 to Professor Ray LaManna at Raymond.LaManna@Baruch.Cuny.edu.

Baruch College is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background.
Strategic Management Ad:

The Management Department of the Zicklin School of Business, Baruch College, City University of New York (CUNY) seeks applicants for part-time Adjunct Professor, non-tenure track positions, for fall or spring terms to teach the undergraduate capstone course in strategic management.

Qualified applicants will have academic credentials at the masters level (or higher) in the field of strategy, leadership or related areas, as well as 5-10 years’ progressive experience in the field of strategy or leadership in an organizational setting. For more information, please send a resume with a cover letter explaining your interest and availability in Spring or Summer 2018 to Professor Ray LaManna at Raymond.LaManna@Baruch.Cuny.edu.

Baruch College is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background.