0814ls RCR Pre-Course Assessment

You are about to begin a CITI Program training course. To help us understand our learners' backgrounds and previous content knowledge, as well as to continue to improve the CITI Program, we are conducting a brief pre-course assessment.

Taking this pre-assessment is entirely voluntary. It should take about 5 minutes of your time. Your responses to these questions do not count toward your grade for the course; you are not required to complete the pre-course assessment before beginning your course.

NOTE ABOUT CONFIDENTIALITY: We take your privacy very seriously. We do not collect any personally identifying information with your responses (for example your name, email address, or CITI Program username). You will also have the opportunity to provide course feedback once you complete your course via an optional course evaluation. To assess our course content, we will match your pre- and post-course survey responses using an identifying key (known only to CITI Program Staff). Again, personally identifying information such as your name or email are never stored with your course evaluation responses. Moreover, you will never be personally identified in any subsequent reports, presentations, or publications based on these course assessments.

If you have any further questions, or would like additional information about the CITI Program Course Assessment process, please feel free to contact the CITI Program Help Desk at 305-243-7970, or email the research department at citiresearch@med.miami.edu.
