

2012 REU Conference Program

Program 2012 Annual Conference Research Experience for Undergraduates at Baruch College May 11th, Room 763, Newman Library Building

- 10:00am Professor Jaihyun Park. Welcoming remarks.
- 10:15am Shira Preil (Stern College for Women). Self-efficacy, goal orientation, and metacognition Advisor: Professor Artistico
- 10:30am Karen Fong (Hunter College). Implicit identity among Asian American female college students. Advisor: Professor Park
- 10:45am Jeffery Patterson (Baruch College). Benefit finding and psychosocial dimensions of HIV: Associations with stigma, depression and anxiety. Advisor: Professor Artistico
- 11:00am Rachel deLacy (Fordham University). Cognitive ability and construct validity reducing the adverse impact. Advisor: Professor Scherbaum
- 11:15am Renelle Lawrence (Baruch College). The impact of fatigue on perception and heuristic usage. Advisor: Professor Engle-Friedman
- 11:30am Christy DaBreo (Baruch College) Implicit stereotypes: How Hispanics view themselves. Advisor: Professor Park
- 11:45am COFFEE BREAK
- 12:00am Sarah Hayes (NYU). The relationship between fatigue and sociability. Advisor: Professor Engle-Friedman
- 12:15am Jillian Minahan (Fordham University). Effects of social information on moderating negative attitudes toward obesity. Advisor: Professor Park
- 12:30am Sophie Chen (Baruch College). Examining the convergent validity and adverse impact of a modern cognitive ability test. Advisor: Professor Scherbaum
- 12:45am Tiffani Ng (Queens College). Does priming for nurturance lead to more sustainable behavior? Advisor: Professor Engle-Friedman
- 1:00pm Stephanie Scutari (Baruch College). Increasing self-efficacy for exercise: The effects of everyday problem solving in removing obstacles. Advisor: Professor Artistico
- 1:15pm Sharlene Lansiquot (NYU). Construct validity of the SRT and its relation to measures of fluid intelligence. Advisor: Professor Scherbaum
- 1:30pm Professor Jaihyun Park. Closing remarks.
- 1:35pm LUNCH