Standing High Above the City’s Mighty Roar

Miriam Blech, Class of '77
(text revised by Grace Schulman)

Standing high above the city’s mighty roar
B'nai B'rith we sing to you, now and evermore.

Praising you for years, we will always be
Proud to call you alma mater, jubilant and free.

Knowledge of the world, the honor it will bring
Are what you have given us; that is why we sing, Your dignity and strength, make our spirits soar B'nai B'rith, we sing to you forevermore.

B'nai B'rith, we sing to you forevermore.
ACADEMIC HERALDRY

Academic ceremonies, particularly commencement (literally “beginning”), can be traced back to the universities of the twelfth century. Because those universities were predominantly under the control of the clergy, traditional academic exercises have much in common with religious ceremonies.

The caps, gowns, and hoods worn by participants in these exercises are patterned after the attire of monks and students in the Middle Ages. Those who have earned the bachelor’s degree wear a gown with a semi-stiff yoke, long pleated front, intricate shirring across the shoulders and back, and long, pointed sleeves. The holder of the master’s degree wears a similar gown, but the sleeve is square and closed at the end with the wearer’s forearm coming through a slit near the elbow. Those possessing the doctor’s degree wear gowns having broad velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on the full, round, open sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or the color of the field of learning represented by the degree.

The hoods, over the shoulders and down the backs of the faculty, reveal the degrees and institutions of the wearers. The velvet binding or edging is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. The lining of the hood, in silk, gives the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The shortest hood is the bachelor’s; the longest and broadest is the doctor’s; and the master’s is midway between these in size. There is much duplication in the colors of the colleges; therefore, they will be left unidentified. However, there is a standard color for the subjects. The most common are:

*cum laude is granted to those candidates whose scholastic index in all subjects for a minimum of 56 credits taken at Baruch College is 3.5 or higher (3.2 for those entering prior to fall 2004 who remain in continuous attendance until graduation).

COLLEGE HONORS

AMERICAN HUMANICS

The Baruch College chapter consists of more than 80 members who are dedicated to advancing nonprofit organizations and becoming future leaders in the sector.

SALUTATORIAN AND VALEDICTORIAN

These offices, steeped in long tradition, are accorded to graduating students in honor of their outstanding records. The Salutatorian, who delivers the salutatory, or welcoming, address at commencement, is the student who ranks second in the graduating class in terms of academic achievement. The Valedictorian, who delivers the valedictory, or farewell, address at commencement, is the student who ranks first academically among his or her fellow graduates. The title of valedictorian is an anglicized derivation from the Latin vale dicere, “to say farewell.”

The listing of names and degrees to be conferred, appearing herein, is subject to such changes, deletions, and additions as may be necessary to conform to the final and official records of Bernard M. Baruch College.

September 2010 candidates, having given evidence of their intention to complete requirements for their degrees by the end of the Summer Session 2010, are listed as prospective candidates for their respective degrees and have been invited to participate in these Commencement Exercises. The official list of September 2010 graduates will be published in the program for Commencement 2011.
