SUMMER 2016 COLIN POWELL FELLOWSHIP IN INTERNATIONAL DIPLOMACY

The Colin Powell Fellowship in International Diplomacy is a summer internship program for two Baruch undergraduate students with a strong interest in serving the United States by working for the U.S. Department of State. It is hoped that this opportunity will lead students to pursue a career in international diplomacy.

The internships are located either in Washington, D.C. at State Department headquarters, in New York City at the United States Mission to the United Nations, or at a U.S. embassy overseas. The internships last from six to eight weeks. Students must apply directly to the U.S. Department of State to be considered for an internship. Here is the link to the online application for the summer 2016 internship program at the U.S. Department of State. The deadline for applying is October 16, 2015.

Although the internships are unpaid, Baruch College offers a stipend depending on the duration of the internship and location. To be considered for the stipend, students must submit a separate application to Baruch College. Here is the link to the 2016 Colin Powell Fellowship application. The application deadline is October 16, 2015.

Requirements for the Colin Powell Fellowship

If you are a U.S. citizen, a full-time student at Baruch with junior or senior status and will be returning to Baruch after the internship to complete your degree, have demonstrated an interest in international relations, and have a grade point average of 3.4 or above, you are eligible to apply for the Colin Powell Fellowship. In addition to these requirements, you must be able to obtain a U.S. Department of State security clearance.

Application Deadline

All application materials must be received by the Weissman Center for International Business, Baruch College by Friday, October 16, 2015, 12:00 PM. The Weissman Center is located at 137 East 25th Street, 8th floor, room 804. Please contact Lene Skou (lene.skou@baruch.cuny.edu) with any questions.
