

Baruch Geoportal Home

The Baruch Geoportal is a repository maintained by the Newman Library at Baruch College, CUNY that provides geospatial data and resources. Many of these resources and datasets are publicly accessible, while some are restricted to Baruch College or CUNY affiliates.

Visit our blog to see recent updates. Don't know what any of this stuff is? Take a look at the Spatial Data Formats to find out.

Datasets - GIS and tabular datasets available for download or by request

Resources - tutorials, reference sources, crosswalks, and maps

About Us - information about geospatial services and the GIS Lab at Baruch

GIS Research Guide - for a basic intro (site located outside the portal)
