

Bloomberg Businessweek

By Laura Lorenzetti March 28, 2014

The running of the deans

This week, Paul Danos, the 20-year dean of Dartmouth's Tuck School of Business, said he would step down after next year's graduation. Tuck won't be the only school on the lookout for new leadership. Baruch College wooed Dr. Fenwick Huss away from Georgia State University to name him the new head of Zicklin. Meanwhile, Atlanta neighbor Georgia Tech hooked Maryam Alavi as its new business school dean, leaving Emory's Goizueta still in search of a permanent chief.